

Tricia Guggenheim graduated from Northwestern University with degrees in Teaching and Creative Dramatics, going on to receive her Master's from Georgia State University. Her career has spanned over thirty-one years as an elementary and middle school teacher.

With a spirit of volunteering, Tricia is a past board member of the Jewish Educational Alliance, the Shalom School and the Royce Center, and also was a five year race committee member for the Susan G. Komen Coastal Georgia race. In addition to being a total teacher nerd, Ms. Guggenheim enjoys yoga, reading and Musical Theatre.
